The records were subsequently transferred to the home of Mr. Fielding at 15 Montague Street, Dorchester. As of December 31, 1966, the outstanding checks had been reduced to $585.35, which together with the cash balance of $13.15 in the Receiver's account constituted the bank deposit of $599.50 in the State Street Trust Company.

CONCLUSION

The General Court in 1966 enacted legislation which expanded existing coverages and further regulated our Insurance Laws in many areas.

Pursuant to the maximum attainment in the performance of duties and responsibilities, your Commissioner established and maintained adequate facilities to comply with the Commonwealth regulatory Insurance Laws. This was augmented by the serving on a number of committees of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners, and as a member of the Governor's Highway Safety Committee which in the performance of the duties on these committees disseminated information valuable to the insurance industry both from a state and public level.

In addition, ever mindful of these obligations and responsibilities, your Commissioner and his well qualified supervising staff segments of the Industry to insure the public and the Insurance Industry, substantial equity in accordance with the laws of the Commonwealth.

Respectfully submitted,

C. Eugene Farnam

FIRE AND CASUALTY COMPANIES IN RECEIVERSHIP

COMMONWEALTY MUTUAL LIABILITY INSURANCE COMPANY - Henry P. Fielding, Charles F. Lovejoy and William C. Giles, 6 Beacon Street, Boston, were appointed temporary Receivers on December 51, 1936, and these appointments were made permanent on December 26, 1936. Later, William C. Giles resigned. The records were subsequently transfered to the home of Mr. Fielding at 15 Montague Street, Dorchester. In 1947, the Receivers filed with the Supreme Judical Court a report to July 31st of that year showing a cash balance of $13.15 and a list of outstanding dividend checks amounting to $617.45, which have never been presented for payment but were covered by cash in bank. In the absence of any order from the Court, the receivers have not turned over to the Commonwealth the cash to cover outstanding checks nor deposited the Receivership records with the Commissioner of Insurance. As of December 31, 1967, the outstanding checks had been reduced to $585.35, which together with the cash balance of $13.15 in the Receiver's account constituted the bank deposit of $599.50 in the State Street Trust Company.

LEGISLATION

CHAP. 161. AN ACT RELATING TO THE SEPARATE ACCOUNTS OF LIFE INSURANCE POLICIES AND ANNUITY CONTRACTS ISSUED IN CONNECTION WITH CERTAIN PENSION CONTRACTS.

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

Section 1. Section 132F of chapter 175 of the General Laws, as amended by chapter 296 of the acts of 1965, is hereby amended by striking out the second and third paragraphs and inserting in place thereof the following two paragraphs:--

"Pension contracts" for the purpose of this section shall mean life policies and annuity contracts, whether on the group or individual basis, and any supplementary agreements relating thereto, issued in connection with a pension, profit-sharing, or retirement plan which meets the requirements for the tax treatment specified in sections 402(a), 402(c), 402(d), 403(a) or 403(b) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as such sections may at any time be in force; and shall include such contracts assigned wholly or in part to any separate account after their dates of issue, and agreements reinsuring pension contracts issued by other insureers or reinsuring retirement systems established by law.

Pension contracts shall provide for the payment of a periodic retirement benefit payable in fixed or variable dollar amounts, or both. In the case of any pension contract providing for retirement benefits payable in variable dollar amounts, such benefits may vary in amount in direct proportion to the investment results of any or all investments in any separate account to which such pension contract has been assigned in whole or in part or, with the apporval of the commissioner, such benefits may vary on some other basis fixed by the contract. Any pension contract delivered in this commonwealth providing for the payment of a retirement benefit in variable dollar amounts shall contain a statement of the essential features of the procedure to be followed by a life company in determining the dollar amount of such variable benefits. Any such pension contract, including a group contract and any certificate issued thereunder, shall state that the dollar amount of such variable benefits may decrease or increase and shall contain on its first page, in a prominent position, a statement that the benefits thereunder are on a variable basis.

Section 2. Said section 132F of said chapter 175 is hereby further amended by striking out the sixth paragraph, as so appearing, and inserting in place thereof the following paragraph:--

To the extent that the life company's reserve liability under a pension contract with respect to benefits payable in fixed dollar amounts and with respect to funds guaranteed as to principal amount or stated rate of interest is maintained in any separate account, the portion of the assets of such separate account which is allocated to the funding agreement with respect to such pension contract shall be invested in accordance with the requirements applicable to the life company's general investment account, and shall be valued and computed as provided in section twenty-five. To the extent that a pension contract provides for the payment of benefits in variable dollar amounts, the life company's reserve liability for such benefits shall be in accordance with actuarial procedures which recognize the variable nature of the benefits to be provided.

Section 3. Said section 132F of said chapter 175 is hereby further amended by adding after the ninth paragraph, as so appearing, the following three paragraphs:--

No domestic life company, and no other life company admitted to transact business in this commonwealth, shall be authorized to issue or deliver vithin this commonwealth any pension contract providingbenefits in variable amounts until such company has satisfied the commissioner that its condition and methods of operation in connectionwith the issuance of such contracts will not be such as would render its operation hazardous to the public or ts policyholders in this commonwealth. In determining the qualification of a company requesting authority to issue or deliver such contracts within his commonwealth, the commissioner shall consider, among other things,
1) the history and financial condition of the company; (2) the character, esponsibility and general fitness of the officers and directors of the ompany; and (3) in the case of a company other than a domestic company, hether the regulation provided by its domiciliary jurisdiction provides degree of protection to policyholders and the public which is substantially qual to that provided by this section and by the rules and regulations ssued thereunder.

Any common stock purchased for a separate account which includes the unds received under a pension contract providing for benefits payable n variable dollar amounts shall be common stock which is listed or admitted o trading in a Securities Exchange located in the United States or Canada, r which is publicly traded in the "over the counter market" as defined by ne commissioner, and as to which market quotations have been available.

The commissioner may issue such rules and regualtions as may be necssary to carry out the provisions of this section. The provisions of chapter nirty A shall not be applicable to such rules and regulations.

CONCLUSION

The General Court in 1967 enacted legislation which expanded existing coverages and further regulated our Insurance Laws in many areas.

Pursuant to the maxium attainment in the performance of duties and responsibilities, your Commissioner established and maintained adequate facilities to comply with the Commonwealth regulatory Insurance Laws. This was augmented by the serving on a number of committees of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners, and as a member of the Governor's Highway Safety Committee which in the performance of the duties on these committees disseminated information valuable to the insurance industry both from a state and public level.

In addition, ever mindful of these obligations and responsibilities, your Commissioner and his well qualified supervising staff segments of the Industry to insure the public and the Insurance Industry, substantial equity in accordance with the laws of the Commonwealth.

Respectfully submitted,

C. Eugene Farnam
